

Tiny Miracles

By Jenna Caputo

Tiny Miracles, the recent book release from local author and founder of the non-profit group Logan Strong, is now out. Editor, Anna Krusinski, describes the book as:

With one small word, a family's hopes and dreams are turned upside down. Cancer. At just over three months old, Logan was diagnosed with a rare form of brain cancer known as a congenital glioblastoma.

Jennifer and her husband, Kevin, were told that their son would not survive. But after two major brain surgeries, five rounds of inpatient chemotherapy, and six rounds of outpatient chemo, Logan had beaten an "unbeatable" cancer. Then, when they were told that Logan would never walk, talk, or feed himself due to his traumatic brain injury from the cancer, Logan continued to defy all odds.

Tiny Miracles is the story of a mother's relentless fight for her son's life, her resiliency, and her journey of finding faith and hope along the way. In guiding her baby through his battle against brain cancer, Jennifer discovers that miracles do happen—in big and small ways, every day—and she surpasses her own limits of courage and resolve, proving that we each hold the capacity to become stronger than we ever thought possible.

Award-winning author of What Makes Them Amazing: Inspiring Stories of Young Adults Fighting Cancer, Janine De Tillio Cammarata, describes it as, "An honest and heart-wrenching retelling of Logan's cancer journey and beyond. This is a powerful book about a family's love, a mother's perseverance, and faith."

Be sure to pick up a copy of Jennifer's book at your favorite local bookstore and help support one of our Neighbors!
